OTTAWA, ON — Leading online estate planning company LegalWills announced a new partnership with Legatus Trust, a South African trust company, to offer online Wills and estate planning services in South Africa.

Canadian founded LegalWills has dominated the online Will writing industry in Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom for over 20 years and now adds South Africa to their growing list of countries served. Working in sync with lawyers across South Africa, LegalWills has partnered with Legatus Trust to adapt their leading user-friendly Will writing software for use in South Africa.

The new partnership will promote Will writing and estate planning in South Africa by extending the existing services offered by Legatus Trust into LegalWills' online Will writing tool. Financial advisors can create Wills on behalf of their clients through the Legatus Trust partnership.

South African LegalWills clients can select Legatus Trust as their executor and will receive their Will for free.

"We are excited to partner with LegalWills to incorporate technology into the estate planning process for our clients," said Hendrik Bruinette, Director of Legatus Trust. "Our clients look to us for peace of mind when it comes to their financial matters, and we are constantly looking for innovative ways to deliver on our promises."

"We are thrilled to launch our Wills and estate planning services in South Africa with our partner Legatus Trust," said Tim Hewson, CEO of LegalWills. "This partnership represents the growing need for innovation in industries driven by traditional services.
